FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Over 10 Million Decisions Made for Christ through Internet Outreach this Year

Global Media Outreach Engages 1.8 Million in Discipleship Follow-up

LOS GATOS, Calif., Dec. 17, 2009 – Internet ministry Global Media Outreach (GMO) today announced a milestone in reaching people with the Gospel online. At about 2 a.m. Pacific Time, on Monday, Dec. 7, GMO saw the 10 millionth person this year indicate a decision for Christ through their Web sites. Over 1.8 million people have initiated follow-up for more information, guidance and discipleship during this same time period.

In 2009, GMO presented the Gospel to over 55 million people through its more than 90 different Web sites globally. GMO is able to track these unprecedented results because the statistics are Internet-based. This allows the ministry to account for the number of people visiting GMO's Gospel outreach Web sites, indications of a first time decision for Jesus or a recommitment and the number of e-mails sent to GMO's volunteers, called online missionaries.

"It is humbling to be a part of the Great Commission and watching millions of people coming to Christ," said Walt Wilson, GMO founder and chair. "We have responders all over the world, connecting to people through e-mail for prayer, discipleship and church connections."

GMO's online response system allows the e-mails to be distributed to online missionaries based on site, language and interest. This year, GMO's online missions program grew to more than 4,200 trained online missionaries who answer each e-mail and personally minister to those who seek to know Jesus.

Since its inception in 2004, GMO has seen the number of people indicating a decision for Christ grow from 21,066 people annually to more than 10 million people in 2009. GMO is a California-based ministry with the vision of giving everyone multiple opportunities to accept Jesus Christ, building them in their faith and connecting them to Christian communities. GMO is using the Internet and other emerging technologies to effectively and efficiently convey the love of Christ and plan of salvation across the globe.
