Clean Comedy Strikes Back

Creators of Hilarious Website Provide Material for Tweens and Teens

WHAT: Keeping kids protected from inappropriate content on the Internet can be difficult when even cartoons offer questionable moral behavior. Finding websites that older kids, especially, can laugh and be entertained without suggestive or unsuitable material is almost impossible. The Parents Television Council (PTC) found that four of the most popular online distributors of commercially-generated video are failing to protect kids from explicit content. PTC's report, "Untangling the Web of Internet Video" is the most comprehensive on the matter to date and includes Hulu (NBC/Universal, Fox and Disney/ABC), Fancast (Comcast), /Slashcontrol (AOL) and AT&T.

Recognizing this is true, "The Doug and Jon Show" was created for teens and tweens to enjoy humorous videos, address relevant topics and maintain family-friendly content.

WHO: Doug Hutchcraft and Jon Taylor, creators of the youth-centric website, "The Doug & Jon Show," have built a virtual playground for teens and tweens looking for a place to laugh, get life tips, connect and share. They offer advice on how to monitor what your kids are looking at and how "The Doug & John Show" goes about keeping clean and family friendly content.

WHEN: By appointment

WHERE: Via phone or Skype

DETAILS: "The Doug & Jon Show" offers teens and tweens a safe website that is entertaining, educational and conversational. In addition to original comedy videos and animated cartoon shorts, the site features a slew of video blogs and Q&As that address important issues that kids face today, such as popularity, self-injury and sex. Site creators Doug and Jon set out to create a wholesome, fun place for teens in the medium where they spend the majority of their time – the Internet. The site has received more than 500,000 unique hits in just six months.
