

May 12, 2011

Billy Graham Health Update

Evangelist Billy Graham's staff and family have asked us to give you a brief update on his progress today here at Mission Hospital in Asheville.

Following his rounds this afternoon, pulmonologist Shaw C. Henderson, MD, confirmed that Mr. Graham's temperature remains normal and that his congestion is clearing in response to antibiotic treatment. Mr. Graham remains in good spirits and continues to make progress during his stay. He resumed a normal routine today, getting up for all of his meals, and completing a light therapy program.

Mr. Graham's staff also noted that his pastor, Dr. Don Wilton, visited Mr. Graham in his room this morning for their weekly time of Bible study and prayer together.

Note: I expect this to be the last message today, Thursday May 12. Thank you for your continuing interest in Mr. Graham's recovery.

Merrell Gregory
Manager, External Communications
Mission Hospital Health System, Asheville, NC

828 213-4806
24/7 pager: 257-1202
merrell.gregory@missionhospitals.org